LESSONS:

I am a member of Dan's "over 50" group. I've been taking classical guitar lessons with Dan since my retirement 2 1/2 years ago I was inspired after I walked into the music store and heard Dan playing a new guitar. I took the guitar and the teacher!

Learning to play guitar has always been a dream of mine. With no formal training in reading music or playing guitar, Dan took me from where I was and patiently taught me music basics while teaching me to play guitar at the same time. It was never dull. Now, a friend (who is also taking acoustic guitar lesson from Dan), and I meet between lessons to practice the duets we hope to perform for our church.

I would like to enthusiastically suggest Dan Weaver for guitar instruction. He teaches out of his home in Allouez. My son has been with him for a year and has learned so much. He is an outstanding guitarist, a great teacher who has really honed in on my son's personality, and a man of faith.

The sound of a classical guitar intrigued me, and though I already played several wind instruments, I wasn't sure I'd be able to handle a multiple voice string instrument. Plus, I wasn't sure that "an over 40 dog" could learn some new tricks...but that was three years ago! Being accepted under Dan's wing has been a blessing. When I've stumbled along the way, he has patiently isolated and provided pointers on how to alleviate imperfections. During times when I've felt like I'm just spinning my wheels and not making any progress, Dan has stepped in with a story from his personal experience to help lift my spirit. When my confidence returns and I'm finally able to master a new concept, he gently nudges me on to a new challenge.

Luck was with me three years ago when Dan had several lesson openings. Don't give up if openings for new students are currently unavailable. Be patient and wait, for with Dan's teaching techniques, you will cherish your journey of developing a new musical talent as much as I.

PERFORMANCE:

The Green Bay Botanical Garden was very fortunate to have Dan play his acoustic guitar for our annual Garden Party event in August. Before the event, he toured the site to make sure everything would run smoothly and confirm details, etc. The day of the event Dan created the exact atmosphere I was hoping for, for our members. We were all impressed by his playing and would use him again without question!

COMPOSER:

August 24, 2013 was one of the happiest days of my life, as I was marrying the love of my life. Being a second wedding for both of us, we wanted to keep it somewhat simple, but meaningful. I have known Dan Weaver for about 15 yrs, and have always been soothed and inspired by his music, so I approached him in the hopes he would be able to play for us on our special day. Not only did he enthusiastically agree to play, but wrote a song, especially for us, and played it during our ceremony. The sentiment was beautiful and my husband and I will never forget it. The sheet music is framed and displayed in our home. During cocktail hour, he played a great mix of old and new songs that was the perfect background.

Dan is a genuinely nice and gentle person, and is very humble when it comes to his talent. I find his music to be original and inspirational. It was a privilege to have had him play for our wedding day, and anyone looking for a talented, versatile, and dependable professional to play for an event would be lucky to have him.
